

Terms of Use

The user of the website undertakes to use the website in accordance with the law, not using it for any purpose other than that for which it is meant, and avoiding any action which might prevent its normal use.

Under no circumstances may the website be used in prejudice to the rights and interests of any third parties or of Novility B.V., nor for the purposes of carrying out activities which are unlawful or contrary to the market or to socio-economic norms.

The user will refrain from obtaining data or information through any procedures or applications other than those permitted and provided by this website, with Novility B.V. reserving the right to withdraw or suspend access from those users failing to comply with any of the norms of use contained herein, or any other which might be deemed similar.

You may not use any “deep-link”, “page-scrape”, “robot”, “spider” or other automatic device, program, algorithm or methodology, or any similar or equivalent manual process, to access, acquire, copy or monitor any portion of the website or any content, or in any way reproduce or circumvent the navigational structure or presentation of the website or any content, to obtain or attempt to obtain any materials, documents or information through any means not purposely made available through the website. Novility B.V. reserves the right to bar any such activity.

The user accepts that Novility B.V. has no liability in respect of any third-party content or information which might appear on its website, or in respect of the services offered possibly being interrupted due to causes or reasons of a technical nature or force majeure. Novility B.V. is also unable to guarantee privacy and security when using the site, or to prevent unauthorized third parties from possibly becoming aware of the characteristics and/or circumstances of the use users make of the site.

Novility B.V. can neither control nor guarantee the absence of computer virus or other undesirable elements which, through the website, might cause alterations or malfunctions in the users' hardware or software systems, and all liability is excluded for any damage which might be caused due to such reason.

The website might use cookies when the user browses the web, it being possible for the system to recognize the web-browsers used for accessing the site after the latter have been registered. In any event, users will have the option to prevent the installing of cookies on their hard drives.